

“Competition and Public Policy in Network Industries”

DECEMBER 5-6, 2016

Venue: Kwansei Gakuin Kaikan, Nishinomiya-Uegahara Campus, Kwansei Gakuin University

Keynote Speech : Dr. David S. Evans

“New Matchmaker Economy and Competition Policy”

David S. Evans, an economist, is currently Chairman, Global Economics Group, based in Boston, and Executive Director, Jevons Institute for Competition Law and Economics and Visiting Professor, University College London. He has taught antitrust economics for more than 25 years at the University College London, University of Chicago, and Fordham University and for specialized courses for judges and officials. He has published extensively on competition policy and his work is widely cited by courts and competition authorities. He has BA, MA, and PhD degrees, all in economics, from the University of Chicago.

Dec 5 13:00 - 16:50

Makoto Hanazono Nagoya University

“Is a Big Entrant a Threat to the Incumbents? The Role of Demand Substitutability in Competition among the Big and the Small”

Toshifumi Kuroda Tokyo Keizai University

“Identifying the Effect of Pre-installed Smartphone Apps on the Mobile Service Markets”

Dec 6 10:00 - 16:10

Anna Rita Bennato Loughborough University

“Tax Regimes and Market Structure”

Joel Stiebale Heinrich Heine Universität Düsseldorf

“The Effects of Mergers and Acquisitions on Innovation: Firm-level Evidence”

Naoshi Doi Sapporo Gakuin University

“Empirical Study of Per-passenger and Per-flight Airport Charges”

Ryoko Oki Hosei University

“Exclusive Contents in Two-Sided Markets”

Masayoshi Maruyama Kobe University

“Process Innovation, Application Compatibility, and Welfare”

< Contact information >

Kwansei Gakuin University
1-155 UEGAHARA, NISHINOMIYA, HYOGO, JAPAN , 662-8501

Masatoshi Kato (mkato@kwansei.ac.jp)