

The Undergraduate Student's Opinions of Supporting Aging Parents in Coastal Areas of China

ABSTRACT

The purpose of this paper is to observe through self-administered instruments, the opinions of undergraduate students regarding supporting their aging parents.

Since the aging population has been growing rapidly in coastal areas of China, respondents were chosen from such provinces as ShanDong, JiangSu, and FuJian. As "the single child policy" has been effective now for twenty years, most of the present undergraduate students are only children. There is good reason to probe their thoughts regarding caring for their aging parents as concerns about this issue increase in China.

Key Words: Coastal areas of China, The Undergraduate Student, the opinions of supporting aging parents